Read the passage below, it contains blank spaces numbered 1 to 15. For each blank space, choose the best alternative from the choices given.

Having good manners 1 acting in a way that is acceptable and respectful. 2 manners can help you to have better relationships with people you know and those you will meet. Being 3 to others is always a good place to start and you can begin your journey to good manners by holding doors open for others when possible. Good manners 4 respect from those you interact with. Say "Please" and "Thank you," when you need to. People notice when 5 courteous and respectful toward them and it can count for a lot. You 6 say "Excuse me" whenever you accidentally bump into someone, or if you need to get into a place but someone has 7 the way. Hold doors open for 8 people. If someone 9 be entering the door shortly after you, pause a second and hold it open for them. Say, "May I get the door for you?" This gives the other person an opportunity 10 accept or decline.

Know how to answer the phone. Be pleasant and 11. Say "Hello." Avoid a lot of unnecessary words. It is 12 dangerous to use unnecessary words. Always 13 someone else is there if you are alone and somebody calls on the phone. If the call is for someone else, say something such as; "One moment please, I'll just go and call my father 14 you." Put the phone down gently without shouting to the speaker. If the person 15 the caller wants to speak to is unavailable, say, "I'm sorry, daddy isn't available right now. May I take a message for her and ask him to call you as soon as he can?"

Read the passage below and answer questions 26 to 38

Before our class visited the Lake Nakuru National Park, I had no idea on what conservation of the natural environment was like. I did not know that wild animals could be kept at a point. As much as I knew, wild animals had no owner and nobody can take care of them because they always attack human beings especially when they feel offended. Animals do not talk, so it is difficult to know when they feel you have wronged them and so I avoided wild animals like leprosy. As we entered the national park, a set of instructions was read to us; the things you must not do or you offend the animals kept. This is when I knew that in as much as the animals are wild; human beings still take care of them even as they maintain their natural home. Their home is conserved in the name of a park but still, human beings care for them.

As we entered the park, we were given an usher whose title we were told was a tour guide and every question, we were told, was known to them. I wondered how on earth one person would know everything about the whole large chunk of land and all the animals in it. Trying to get the usher's attention, you would find that a whole lot of people would have different questions at the same time, and he would not answer all of them at the same time, so you may be forced to wait for a lifetime. The curiosity I had led me to nonstop observation of these big elephants, rhinos, buffaloes and the medium-sized warthogs. Any clarifications would come when the turn of watching was done.

Food within the park area is not actually cheaper than in town. In fact food prices were as high as twice or thrice the normal prices you can find somewhere else. I think this was due to the continuous demand from the streaming tourists in the park. They said that the white people, who were the most common in the park, had a lot of money. I don't think anybody would buy from these vendors at the national park if the policy did not favour them. It was law in the park that no foodstuffs would be carried into the animal area and if one had to eat, only the foods sold within the area could be bought. The large area of land, and with the business of seeing the animals in their natural habitat, one would not stay without eating as the stomach would continuously complain.

There were several gates that entered the park area. No matter what gate you use to enter, you will see vendors selling food and magazines that contain descriptions of the animals you are likely to see in the park. They are quick to let you know that next to the gate you can buy a mango at one hundred shillings but you would be forced to spend thrice as high when you buy in the park. This is actually not true. The cost was equal everywhere around and in the park area. The price of an ordinary mango had shot up from one shilling for each as we used to buy it at Kumuinda, the place I was born, and now I had to spend a lot more! Everywhere around and in the park, the foodstuffs had the same prices, I think to avoid problems between vendors, but each of them would tell you how cheap his was. A vendor would tell you to buy from him or her because of this reason or that.

Read the passage below and answer questions 39 to 50.

Malnutrition or malnourishment is a condition that results from eating a diet in which nutrients are either not enough or are too much such that the diet causes health problems. It may involve proteins, carbohydrates, vitamins or minerals. Lack of enough nutrients is called undernutrition or undernourishment while too much nutrients is called overnutrition. Malnutrition is often used specifically to refer to undernutrition where there are not enough proteins or other nutrients. If undernutrition occurs during pregnancy, or before two years of age, it may result in permanent problems with physical and mental development. Extreme undernourishment, known as starvation, may have symptoms that include: a short height, thin body, very poor energy levels and swollen body parts. People also often get infections and are frequently cold. The symptoms of nutrient deficiencies depend on the food that is lacking in the diet eaten by the person.

Undernourishment is most often due to not enough adequate quality food being available to eat. This often comes because of high food prices and poverty. Lack of proper breastfeeding may contribute, as may a number of infectious diseases such as pneumonia, malaria and measles, which increase nutrient requirements. There are two main types of undernutrition: protein-energy malnutrition and dietary deficiencies. Protein-energy malnutrition has two severe forms: marasmus which results from lack of all nutrients in the body and kwashiorkor which is a lack of proteins. Common mineral salt deficiencies include lack of iron, iodine and calcium. In some developing countries, overnutrition in the form of obesity is beginning to present within the same communities as undernutrition.

Efforts to improve nutrition are some of the most effective forms of development assistance that the USA has started in most of the African countries. Breastfeeding can reduce rates of malnutrition and death in children, and efforts to promote the practice increases the rates of breastfeeding. In young children, providing food in addition to breastmilk between six months and two years of age improves the health of the infant. There is also good evidence supporting giving extra of nutrients to women during pregnancy and among young children in the developing world, which the USA has included in their aid to African countries. To get food to people who need it most, both delivering food and providing money to people to buy food within local markets are effective. Simply feeding students and pupils at school is insufficient and one good step towards improving nutrition. Management of severe malnutrition within the person's home with ready-to-use foods is possible much of the time. In those who have severe malnutrition which has led to health problems, treatment in a hospital setting is recommended.

Yasome makala haya kwa makini kisha ujibu maswali 41 – 50

Hapo zamani za kale katika kijiji kimoja kilichoitwa Wahamile, jitu liliwala wanyama na watu wote isipokuwa mvulana mmoja, dada yake na mbwa wao wawili. Chomondole na dadaye waliishi kwenye kilima katika nyumba iliyozungukwa na uzio mrefu wa miba na kulindwa na mbwa wakali.

Kila jitu lilipojaribu kuingia lilitishwa na mbwa. Ukali wa mbwa hao ulitokea tu walipowekewa chakula kwenye gamba la kobe. Siku moja gamba hilo lilivunjika, kwa siku mbili mbwa walisusia chakula na kukataa hata kubweka. Chomondole alifunga safari kuenda nchi ya mbali kutafuta gamba jingine. Huko nyuma, jitu lilikuja na likaingia nyumbani bila tisho la mbwa. Lilimmeza dadaye Chomondole na mbwa wao wawili.

Chomondole aliporudi alipigwa na butwaa. Mji ulikuwa kimya. Kutokana na namna vitu vilivyovurugika pale nyumbani alifahamu ukweli. Kwanza, woga ulimuaa. Baadaye, ukiwa na kisha huzuni ilimlelea. Akaangua kilio. Alilia akalia akalia. Kilio chake kilikatizwa na wimbo wa ndege. Alisikiliza na baada ya muda akaupata ujumbe wa wimbo. Alienda kwenye magofu alipopata mkuki wenye kigumba cha dhahabu na jambia. Hapo akafunga safari kuenda kwenye pango la ... Alipofika langoni, alianza kutetemeka. Ndege aliyeandamana naye aliendelea kuimba na kumhimiza.

Jitu liliposikia harufu ya binadamu na sauti ya ndege lilitoka pangoni kwa hasira huku jinywa lake likitoa miale ya moto. Chomondole aliyekuwa amejibanza nyuma ya jabali, alilidunga jitu kwenye jicho lake la kisogoni. Jitu lilianguka lakini kabla ya kunyanyuka Chomondole alilikata shingo na mkono wa kushoto. Chomondole aligutuka kuona vitu vyote vilivyomezwa na jitu vikitoka. Wa kwanza alikua dada yake akifuatwa na mbwa wao. Watu walirudi kwao, wakajenga mji wao mpya, wakamtawaza Chomondole kama mfalme wao na wakaishi raha mustarehe.
